

Y. W. C. A. Extends the Helping Hand, Says Dr. von KleinSmid

THE IMPORTANCE of the Young Women's Christian association as an institution ready to stretch a helping hand to a girl or woman at the "psychological moment" was stressed by Dr. E. E. KleinSmid, president of the University of Arizona at Tucson, in his address at the formal dedication of the new Y. W. C. A. building on East Franklin street Sunday afternoon.

Dr. KleinSmid, who is also president of the Y. W. C. A. of the United States, said the help of the Y. W. C. A. to the girl needing it must be ready at the pay-

Paseo had ever undertaken," Mrs. Bow said. "And the success showed that it was well worth the effort and things in a great way. May it be a home where friendships will be made and where the girls will find a place where wholesome fun will abound where the sound of happy voices will be heard where the burden of the heavy burdens of patriotic service may find relaxation and healing experience and where the girls of the congenial groups will meet for study and for mutual benefit, and for pleasure and where the tired and weary will find rest and shelter and where the girls will find their place in life and in the world."

residents against Capt. G. H. Henderson, a prominent Methodist minister for the draft in Arizona. Strong letters are said to have been filed with the War Department by both Guy Hunt and the war department.

BREAK WINDOW; TAKE WHISKY.
Six bottles of whisky were taken from the windows of the Lodge bar, 115 Franklin street, at 10 o'clock Sunday night by two soldiers, who broke the window panes and took the bottles. The soldiers then brought the bottle and grabbed the whisky, police reports said. No arrests had been made Monday morning.

negotiating for cotton land in the south. It is expected that it will be in the market for the balance of this year's crop.

ROB MRS. HYDE'S HOME.
Burglars entered the home of Mrs. Leslie C. Hyde, 115 S. E. 11th St. Sunday and stole $125, a diamond, an automobile spotlight and a small cabinet. The police department has been notified of the robbery and is at work on the case.

THURSDAY DAY, the El Paso School for Girls, was made a special event, with Dr. R. B. von Kleinsmid, of the University of Arizona, a distinguished guest. Dr. von Kleinsmid spoke on "The Spirit Behind the Thrift Stamp," pointing out that women can do for the war, and that the war is a national effort. He was in making women of America more than ever realize what "HOME means," said the orator, criminologist and prominent educator. "While our homes here are preserved, those of Europe are being sacrificed. We will make us all realize that genuine religion means everything that is good and noble and true and must remain." Dr. von Kleinsmid told the girls to go on knitting—and he also told them to go without some cream, but pay for it—striking the nail on the head. "The more you give," he averred, "when everybody is going to look back and say I helped to win the war, with a feeling of joy and pride and patriotism."

Burt Orndorff also was present a moment ago and told the girls of the Thrift stamps as an investment in addition to giving them for birth day presents. He said that the stamps are used for them. The school began this morning by singing a beautiful patriotic song, "O Love Thy Country," "Our Hearts Are Thine Dear Fatherland," and closed with the pledge and the national anthem. Miss Marguerite Tafel has been appointed to have charge of the Thrift stamps at the school. The girls will make a flag this Christmas time of Col. and Mrs. A. Wagner and their daughter, Corinne, who will be given a present from a flagpole at the handsome site in Austin Terrace, to spur the girls on to more work. The girls are so enthusiastic, though they need no incentive. They have been doing knitting and sewing since the school opened. They have given "The Worst Man" many times, for the benefit of the war service. The girls are so happy and are the delightful play at Fort Bliss, from the enlisted men.

related by Dr. W. KleinSmid, who said that he had been in that section of the house, and the speaker.

Guests for Dr. Y. To Solve.

"Thousands of young people have never answered the question," Dr. von KleinSmid added, "but have given it a try." He then asked the audience to give a true value for young women.

"The true value of the individual is recognized in an impressive manner by himself one time, the speaker said. He then told of the great gorge of the Grand Canyon, and he added that he had been tempted to hurl himself over the edge, but he had been saved by a common impulse, but saved himself by spring and fleeing back from the edge.

"Young people are not clouds, trees and stones," he said.

Answer to Dr. To.

The value of work, of hand work, the young woman was also touched on by Dr. KleinSmid. He said that when he comes home from school, he is quite as honorable for her to go to the kitchen and make biscuits as for her to go to the office and get a salary. He then took tea to the neighbors," Dr. von

McNary while in the city. He expected to leave Monday afternoon on the Golden State, and to be met by the Tourist club who will be a year old on Friday, the 15th, and the members are to have an anniversary birthday party. Dr. McNary said that the Tourist club is planning for special enthusiasm. Last week he was at the hospital in the home of Mrs. H. H. Hennessy and Mrs. C. C. Gibson being guests. Many of the guests were taken away as she writes, gave a resume of Egypt, taking her hearers along the Nile, giving them glimpses of both the old and the new world. He developed so well under British rule, Mrs. Hal Christie also talked extensively on Foreign Affairs. In the allied countries, and nearer home, told of interesting things he found in New Mexico. Mrs. Joseph Dwyer was the first part of the program, but with Dr. Dwyer was called to San Antonio to see his son, and his departure for somewhere. The
